Consider Becoming A Part Of A Winning Relationship
The mentoring process can prove to be a great resource for any student seeking to gain enrichment that cannot be found in a textbook, lab, or lecture. But, for the student whose background has afforded little or limited access to the World of Healthcare Professions, a mentoring relationship is not just a great resource, it could mean the difference between success or failure.

Becoming a mentor can be a great way to build your volunteer resume, identify potential colleagues, and most of all give back to the community in a way that will make a huge difference in the life of another.

Our charge in the Division of Multicultural Affairs is to maintain and strengthen the number of qualified applicants from underrepresented and underserved areas who may successfully apply, enter and complete our programs. As a part of our continuing effort to provide a Health Careers Pipeline for a diverse community of budding healthcare professionals, we have established the UMMC Division of Multicultural Affairs Mentoring Program.

Take advantage of UMMC's rich community of health-care professionals who have committed to putting their time, expertise and energy toward helping you succeed.
The Mentoring Program will serve as an arm of our overarching mission to foster an environment that recognizes the benefits of diversity and inclusiveness through academic preparation, instruction, community outreach, and professional development.

Both Mentor and Mentee alike will benefit as the program infuses the academic and professional healthcare community with the exchange of knowledge, experience, and diversity of culture. The priorities we establish now, will determine our future. Providing Primary Care Physicians and Healthcare Professionals who are culturally diverse and sensitive to the needs of the underserved and underrepresented will happen with our intentional efforts to connect in meaningful, thoughtful ways.
